

Mmmmm... Perú

During this activity you will explore some of the culinary options of Peru. As always with Internet activities, there will be vocabulary you don't understand – this is especially true when you deal with food vocabulary. You are welcome to look up single words in any dictionary but be judicious; don't translate the hour away.

La comida de Perú

A. Often when people travel, they check out the local cuisine ahead of time. Review this description of Peruvian cuisine. (It's in English) Make a list of three specialties that you would like to try. You might try an appetizer, a main dish and a dessert but it's completely up to you. Record those specialties below.

B. Another thing people do when they travel is try buffets at restaurants so they can sample lots of different things. (This is sometimes a good idea but not always...) Check out the buffet at these two restaurants to see if you could sample the dishes you chose above.

C. Planning is wise but it's also fun to check out the local dishes and try new things for fun. (Especially seasonal dishes or local specialties.) Check out these two restaurants and see what the specials are. Pick a dish to try for each and describe it as best you can.
