Concours de voyage

Nom(s):

Heure:

Date:

You have won a one-day trip to France that begins in Paris. You can win a week-long stay if you manage to visit all six sections of the hexagon in one day. You may travel between 7:00am and 10:59pm (22:59). You must spend at least one hour in each city. (You get a bonus if you hit more than six cities – remember to leave time for a one hour layover to have a quick tour.) You will have to visit Paris twice since that is the only way to get to the North, but you only have to hang out there for one hour total. For all other areas, you can visit once and move on.

Note: You may assume that a train will be on the tracks when you show up at the train station.

Use the website below to select your cities and to calculate the amount of travel time between destinations. Follow the models in italics.
